
Randolph's Conserved Land

The mission of the Randolph Conservation Commission is to preserve the town's natural resources and rural character by encouraging sound environmental stewardship, providing community outreach and education, and advocating for sustainable town planning. There are many public forest areas available for recreation.

SOUTH PLEASANT STREET WOODS

Behind the Southview Cemetery off Pleasant Street, this 10-acre woodlot between the cemetery and the railroad offers a quiet retreat in the heart of Randolph Village. Walk the paths, take a picnic, and even sleep under the trees, all within walking distance of downtown.

SAYWARD FOREST ON TATRO HILL

About 1.25 miles up Tatro Hill Road on the left, this 73-acre parcel of Northern Forest offers a wilderness experience. Climb the trail to the top of the ridge. Enjoy the view when the leaves are off and watch for bears and owls. Enjoy a picnic or a camp-out. Hunting in-season is permitted.

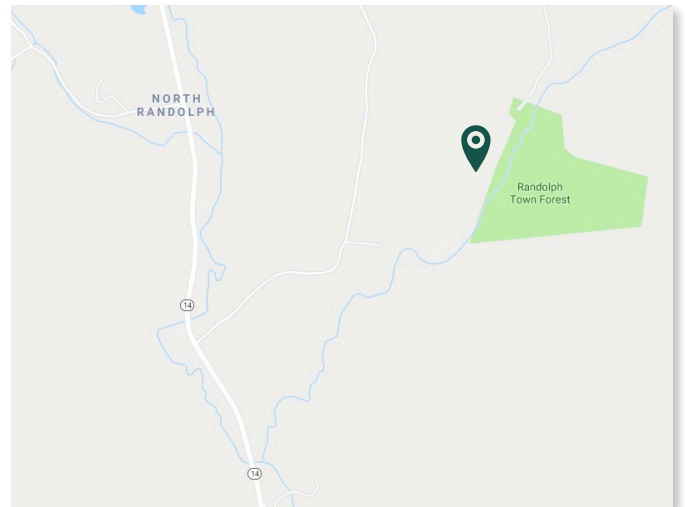

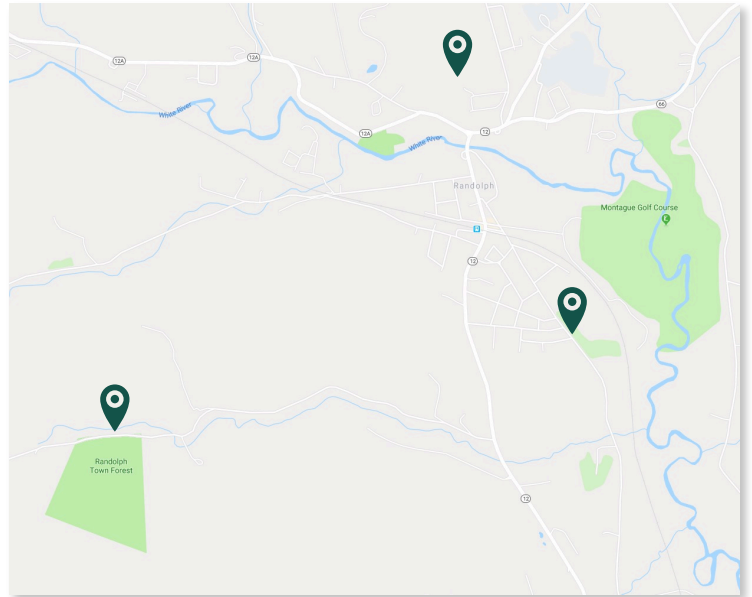

THE ELLIS RESERVE

On Reservoir Road which is off Greenhouse Avenue, this 38-acre parcel offers spectacular southern views. Great spot for a picnic. Groomed and marked trails for mountain biking or hiking. Enjoy a walk across a hay-scented fern carpet among aging maples.

THE RABBIT TRACK OFF OF FERRIS DRIVE IN EAST RANDOLPH

This 55-acre forest parcel offers a wilderness experience far from town. Enjoy the stream and waterfall, but take precautions on the slippery rocks. Also hike to the top of the property, or walk the Rabbit Track. Pay particular attention to the old stone bridge which we believe was the site of a former mill.

Find out more on our website, including information about Emerald Ash Borer preparedness and trail maps. See you outdoors!

Our website: <https://randolphvt.org/rcc>

Contact us: rcc@randolphvt.org
