Hi Mary,

Here is a semi-finished start to the booklet. It's more in-depth than I was planning on. I've discovered that mock ups don't quite work out the way you plan because you don't know what size images you have to work with and how much text you need. Ultimately, you have to get the data and the images and stylize it to see what layouts will really work. I'm not happy with the layout for the dining. It needs to evolve and be a bit more refined. It's a starting point.

Have a good night!
